General Marking Guidance

- All candidates must receive the same treatment. Examiners must mark the first candidate in exactly the same way as they mark the last.
- Mark schemes should be applied positively. Candidates must be rewarded for what they have shown they can do rather than penalised for omissions.
- Examiners should mark according to the mark scheme not according to their perception of where the grade boundaries may lie.
- There is no ceiling on achievement. All marks on the mark scheme should be used appropriately.
- All the marks on the mark scheme are designed to be awarded. Examiners should always award full marks if deserved, i.e. if the answer matches the mark scheme. Examiners should also be prepared to award zero marks if the candidate's response is not worthy of credit according to the mark scheme.
- Where some judgement is required, mark schemes will provide the principles by which marks will be awarded and exemplification may be limited.
- When examiners are in doubt regarding the application of the mark scheme to a candidate's response, the team leader must be consulted.
- Crossed out work should be marked UNLESS the candidate has replaced it with an alternative response.

Valid answers may include:

Arguments for

- Car sales currently make a loss so rental income could increase profit
- Management can concentrate on the repair business
- Considerable investment in car sales inventory can be released
- Rent income will enable business to expand repair business or buy new non-current assets
- Regular cash flow
- Can reduce staff costs

Arguments against

- Costs apportioned to car sales may not be wholly saved
- Complimentary service lost to customers
- Less visual presence in locality/Loss of reputation
- Will lose control of part of his premises

6 (d) Valid answers may include:

For current recording arrangement

- Convenient to group non-current assets into a smaller number of categories.
- Computers and office fixtures provide the same degree of benefit in each year and therefore it is fair to charge the same depreciation in each year.

Against current recording arrangement

- Computers and office fixtures depreciate at different rates and in different ways as judged by the market value over time.
- Computers become obsolete and therefore 15% per annum does not reflect their annual loss in value.
